50X1-HUM

THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION 50X1-HUM

1. The Rasaritlu Rosu Factory is the central section of a state enterprise for the manufacture of barrels, boxes and furniture created in 1949 through the amalgamation of ten small carpentries and other workshops located on the outskirts of Bucharest. The joint administration of the ten factories has not been successful and it has been planned to separate them again. The factory is located at Bucharest, Filaret No. 67, on the premises of the former Luther Beer Barrel Factory [redacted] 50X1-HUM
2. The main factory produces beer barrels and crates for fruit and vegetables. The other factories attached to it produce furniture. The factory is equipped with presses for barrel hoops.
3. The barrels and boxes factory is believed to employ about 1,000 workers. According to plan, the factory should produce 100 barrels daily, though it is doubted whether this has been accomplished. The production capacity has probably also been reduced by alterations and repairs to machinery.
4. Barrel staves and metal fittings come from the IPEIL (Enterprises for the Industrialization and Exploitation of Wood).
5. The destination of the boxes is unknown but the barrels are exported to the USSR.
6. Personalities include:
 - a. Adalbert Erdos, General Manager [redacted] 50X1-HUM
 - b. Manfred Kirmayer, Chief Accountant [redacted]
